Heliski Las Leñas

Las Leñas lies in the end of a wide valley in the Central Andes at 1200 Km from Buenos Aires. In this area of the central Andes are found the more higher peaks. Las Leñas is near the Mount Aconcagua, the coloss of the Andes at 6962 meters. The mountains here are amazing, so huge with tremendous options for freeriding : you will find all you want with pretty much steep slopes and so long runs...

It snows about 20 meters at 3400 during the winter. The powder is usually really dry. Most of the time, the storms come from the Pacific Ocean and have time to become dry when escaping from the Chilean side. Therefore, the snow falls at Las Leñas with a perfect quality...

Dry powder snow, wide open slopes, and challenging steep slopes which make these virgin mountains an amazing ski area which few skiers have ever experienced.

Zekeseven Adventure offers you heliski in private groups of 4 skiers and 1 guide. This group's size provides exclusive use of the helicopter and exclusive terrain for 1 day to 1 week, access to more remote areas and no helicopter waiting time.
